

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for bonding integrated circuit chips and other devices to a liquid crystal display panel. The method involves using a single anisotropic conductive film that is sized to bond at least one integrated circuit chip and at least one other device, such as a flexible printed circuit board, a tape carrier package and a chip-on-film, to the liquid crystal display panel.

PTN39915.2